We must ask you to send in your own name an expression of heartfelt thanks to all the countries we visited, for the reception they gave us, and for all they shewed us; thanks which must reach the heroic armies and the magnificent navies. Let us not forget that the victory which England purchased at a heavy cost to herself has been of the greatest value to us and has helped to lighten our task. Our gratitude is not merely a personal feeling--it pertains not to us only but to our whole country and it is therefore right and desirable that the Imperial Duma should give voice to it. Great is the unity of the Armies which fight under the banners of Right and Liberty in Europe. And we gentlemen...
